DO YOU KNOW WHERE YOUR UNIFORMS COME FROM?

DENNIS Uniform Manufacturing Co. manufactures most of our uniforms in our union “shop” at our headquarters in Portland, OR. We are proud to continue to employ Americans in an industry that has largely moved offshore. DENNIS was recently profiled on the national television program “Made in America” hosted by John Ratzenberger. This program focuses on the most “outstanding companies in America” that are committed to producing high-quality products domestically.

With regard to products that we private label overseas: DENNIS only conducts business with apparel manufacturers whose factories meet the strictest standards for working conditions and fair labor practices. We personally visit and inspect all the facilities we do direct business with and are committed to making sure that our global sourcing upholds and embodies those qualities that we believe our company represents — families, children and education. All of the facilities we do business with are required to hold letters of certification verifying their practices meet global apparel standards.
